A $2500 retainer is required for new cases. CSI submits invoices each month to reflect work completed and payment is required ten days after submission of invoice. CSI's invoices must be paid prior to the release of case work. Past due payments will incur a 1.5% monthly fee on unpaid balances. The retaining attorney is responsible for payment to Collision Specialists, Inc., not the attorney's client.

Mediations, hearings and depositions require a minimum four (4) hour appearance fee as portions of the day have been blocked to accommodate for our appearance. When opposing counsel requests to take our deposition, it will be the responsibility of opposing counsel to pay the appearance fees, in addition to any time that exceeds the four (4) hour minimum. In the event that opposing counsel fails to pay submitted invoices in a timely manner, the retaining attorney will be responsible for the outstanding fees. CSI reserves the right to request the appearance fees prior to the seating of the deposition. These fees must be received five business days before the seating of the deposition and if fees are not received, Collision Specialists, Inc. reserves the right to reschedule the deposition appearance until payment is received. If travel is required for the deposition, opposing counsel will be responsible for all additional expenses unless prior agreements have been made. Depositions will not be scheduled on any past due accounts.

During trial appearances, the day rate will be incorporated since the day will be blocked off of our calendar to eliminate scheduling conflicts.

The mere sharing of information with CSI by a potential client shall not obligate CSI to potential client or prevent CSI from contracting with other parties to the matter in the event that potential client elects not to retain CSI, including a signed agreement and retainer.
